Nerida Sullivan and her husband, Craig, are closer to a country lifestyle, thanks to winning the Freedom Tanks water storage tank competition promoted in Countryman.

The young couple, who both grew up on farms, attended school and have worked in the city for most of their adult lives.

But they dreamed of some day returning to the country.

With a plan to make the dream come true they bought a 200-acre block near Albany in July and will be sending their new water tank there to fill off a shed as they contemplate building a country home.

"I can't believe our luck, the tank fits in so well to our plans," Nerida said.

Freedom Tanks State manager Dean Horner said he was happy for the couple because the tank had helped them develop a thriving lifestyle.
